SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

To Organize Team.

The Pi boys, or Junior Brotherhood, held another one of their splendid meetings Friday evening.

Plans were made to organize a basketball team and Orville Garrett was elected manager of this movement.

Glidden Johnson, who traveled the lonely road to Jerusalem, was given a warm reception by the boys, who are sure by what they know of him that he will add strength to the organization.

It was said by the chancellor in a recent meeting that if the Kappa Sigma Pi, is to be worth while to any church or boy, it will be because the vows, activities, and associations shall help the members to be strong enough to refuse to do the thing they think is wrong, when even the crowd is clamoring to take them along, and to be courageous enough to lead out and help others to a better life.

The boys know what basketball team work means for victory and honor and have resolved to practice team work for improving their habits and morals, believing their lives will be stronger and happier for it.

A paper written by Reginald Frasure, one of the leading members of the organization, was of interest to the boys. He said in part: "In the past Clarksburg has had no organization that interested the boys, and therefore they have spent a great deal of their time on the street corners, in pool rooms and at other undesirable places. The Kappa Sigma Pi has been organized to keep the boys from these places, and bring them nearer the church. We as members should work to get every boy into the club. We hope also to get the mothers interested in this movement, but if our work does not progress as rapidly as we should like we must not get discouraged, but remember the lesson God taught Elijah—everything is not done in a day."

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch will make their future home in San Diego.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Crochet Buttons.

The woman who can crochet can make many pretty varieties of crochet buttons to smarten up her wash dresses for morning wear and ornament her children's frocks. A set of crochet buttons in two sizes, for the front and sleeves of a frock, is a very nice gift suggestion to the girl who is already planning ahead for her Christmas sewing.

Brass Polisher.

To one quart of hot water add one dessertspoonful of oxalic acid. Put the water in a granite pan and have enough to cover the articles to be cleaned. Dip in brass or copper ware for about two seconds, then dry immediately with a soft linen cloth. The result is that the tarnish will absolutely disappear and the things look like new, with no rubbing, no dirty hands. Remember that oxalic acid is poison.
